Introduction

Every man is presumed to know the law, and ignorance of the law is no excuse for a violation of it—so say the maxims. It is, however, utterly impracticable for every man to be a lawyer and know all the laws, yet it is practicable for him to be at least passing-ly familiar with those laws which govern and control his business.

The laws are the rules and regulations which he is forced to observe for the protection and well-being of himself and his fellow-man.

And especially is this true of the stockman. There is, perhaps, no set of men engaged in any business in this state who are so constantly being brought face to face with circumstances and situations which place their rights in jeopardy as is the stockman. Every time he ships in a stallion, a bull or a boar—every time he places them in his fields on the range—every time he ships his stock to market—he is surrounding himself with a perfect maze of duties which must be performed on his part and on the part of others that no one will be damnedified.

And he should know just what his rights are under any given case—"forewarned is forarmed."

It is because of these facts that this book has been compiled and written. It sets forth the laws as they were created by statute, with certain decisions of the State Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court interpreting them—which decisions form the nucleus of the various articles.

The author claims no originality of thought in this book—in fact the converse is true. These laws began in their formation upon the beginning of man and are the outgrowth of centuries upon centuries of careful thought and study of the wisest sages of each generation—each generation weeding out the bad and replacing them with good, modifying and extending them and finally handing them down to the succeeding generation for its revision—eventually reaching us in the year 1913 in their present form.

The author does claim, however, that a passing familiarity with the laws contained in this book will mean the saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to the stockmen.

An erroneous impression is sometimes found current as to the conduct of business in a stock yards. It is not infrequently found that the stock yards, the commission houses and the packers are all confounded as one institution. Three separate and distinct branches of business are found in the conduct of the live stock business at all stock yards. The Stock Yards company does not do a business in the buying and selling of live stock; it is an institution that furnishes yards for the concentration and handling of live stock; its revenues are derived from pen rental and feed charges. The live stock commission man is not a buyer and seller of cattle, hogs and sheep; he is the agent of the producer and handles the stock through the yards for a commission paid by the seller; he does not make his revenues by the purchase and sale of stock; he is the medium between the original owner and the packer. The packer does not speculate in live stock in the yards; he buys the live stock, takes it to the abattoir and there proceeds by different processes to transform that stock into merchantable packing house products.

However, not all of the live stock arriving in the stock yards goes direct to the packers. The stock yards has another market. Much of the stock arriving at the yards is unfit for killing. Large numbers of this class of stock, cattle and sheep, especially, are brought by farmers to be taken back to the country to be fed out and made ready for the slaughter house and the meat block.

How to Collect Claims

Important Suggestions promulgated by Carriers to Secure the Co-operation of the Shipping Public, Endorsed by the Freight Claim Association, Comprising Practically All Carriers in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Honest, frank and hearty co-operation on the part of claimant in presenting claim with proper evidence does much to expedite settlement. The policy of carriers today is to establish the validity of a claim and not to avoid liability.

The Freight Claim Agent is bound to live within the scope of the law and cannot subject himself, his Company or the claimant to the severe fines and penalties imposed by law by paying claims until the facts and measure of legal liability are established. ("It is not the proper practice for railroad companies to adjust claims immediately on presentation and without investigation. The fact that shippers may give a bond to secure repayment in case, upon subsequent examinations, the claims prove to have been improperly adjusted, does not justify the practice." Extract from Interstate Commerce Commission Bulletin No. 3, Article No. 68.)

Any loss or damage, immediately on discovery, should be reported to the Agent of the delivering line, and every opportunity should be afforded him to inspect and verify the same, and in no case should report of this loss or damage be delayed beyond forty-eight hours after receipt of goods.

Delay in making complete investigation is sometimes unavoidable on account of the numerous agencies involved. It must be borne in mind that every claim must undergo some investigation, since reports of loss or damage are not always at the finger tips of the Claim Department.

Delay in adjusting claims for damages often arises through the refusal of consignee to accept property which has been delayed or damaged in transit. It should be understood that the acceptance of such delayed or damaged property does not in any way jeopardize any proper claim which the owner may have against the carrier; in fact, the law expressly provides that a consignee must accept his own property and use all diligence in disposing of it with a view of minimizing loss.

If a carrier fails to acknowledge receipt of a claim, it is an oversight. In acknowledging receipt of claims the official in charge of the Claim Department furnishes a claim number under which all correspondence pertaining to that claim is handled, and it would very much expedite the work in the freight claim office if reference was made to this claim number in any correspondence from claimant or on statements of account periodically sent.

NEBRASKA LAWS

Laws Covering a Shipment

THE CARS.

Upon determining to ship, the stockmen should give his order to the railroad company for the desired number of cars, stating the size, class (single or double deck), etc., and should confirm his order in writing immediately. Should he desire a special car, such as a "Palace Stock Car", his order should so specify.

These cars must be furnished promptly and without discrimination and set at the desired point. They must also be safe and suitable for the transportation of stock, and, in order to make them such, should contain an adequate amount of bedding. Under all circumstances the railroad company must comply with the provisions.

LOADING.

Unless otherwise stipulated and agreed the railroad company must load the stock in the cars, and will be liable for any negligence on their part in so doing. The shipper, however, may by agreement load the cars in which event he would be liable for any damage, excepting, of course, any damage the outcome of unsafe equipment furnished him or negligence on the part of the railroad company. The stock must be loaded by the railroad without unreasonable delay and when loaded must be placed in the train without any unreasonable delay.

RAILROAD PENS.

Shipping yards and pens must be maintained by the various railroad companies. The railroad company's pens must contain safe sheds for the protection of hogs at all shipping yards from which not less than forty cars of hogs are shipped a year and the shipping yards must be able to afford shelter for at least one car of hogs and the capacity of the shed protection must be increased so as to take care of one additional car of hogs for each additional forty cars shipped from such station yearly but in no event need the sheds be built to accommodate more than four cars of hogs at any one time. It is a misdemeanor for the railroad company to violate any of the above provisions and punishable by fine of not less than five dollars per day for every day of such failure or neglect. The State Railway Commission is empowered and it is their duty to enforce these provisions. A railroad company is liable to the shipper for injury to stock caused by these pens being defective or any other injury caused by failure to properly maintain these sheds in accordance with the above provisions.

PRIVATE SHIPPING PENS.

Private shipping pens are established as follows: Any shipper or association of shippers desiring to establish private shipping pens makes application to the railroad company in writing, setting forth the probable amount of livestock to be shipped during the next twelve months and giving the space desired on the company's right of way on which to erect sheds for temporary shelter of livestock while awaiting shipment. This application must specifically set forth the plans for said shed, their position with reference to the railroad tracks and shipping pens, together with any facts or arguments as to why the application should be granted, and this application should be filed with the local agent at any station of such railroad.

In case the application is rejected and an agreement cannot be reached, the applicant may present his petition to the State Railway Commission, reciting the facts set forth in the application and praying for relief. The State Railway Commission will thereupon set a time for hearing upon the petition, make a thorough investigation of the facts and conditions set forth and issue such an order as may be reasonable and within the powers of the Commission. Should the railroad company refuse to comply with the order of the Commission within thirty days after its issuance, it will be liable to a fine of not more than one hundred dollars and for any loss sustained by livestock shippers because of such failure.

However, it must be kept in mind that the railroad company is not liable under any of the provisions set forth, for the destruction of the sheds or structures, any damage thereto or destruction or damage to animals contained therein. The shipper assumes that risk.

PRIVATE SIDE-TRACK.

A shipper may have a private side-track established, equipped and maintained, at which to load and unload his stock if it appears to be reasonable and just that such side-track should be established. These side-tracks may be built wholly at the expense of the railroad company; partially at their expense (according to whether or not the establishing of such tracks would be justified by the amount of revenue derived from such) or wholly at the expense of the shipper. It must, however, appear that it would be warranted by the amount of revenue derived.

Under this statute the railroad company must treat all persons and corporations fairly and equally and without discrimination or favoritism in this regard and any person who is dissatisfied with the amount required to be paid by him towards the construction of such track may bring civil action and have the issues judicially determined.

After such determination then, should the company fail for sixty days to comply with the decision of the Court the person so aggrieved may file his petition again in the District Court of the County in which his industry is carried on, and deposit or enter into sufficient security for the payment to be made on his part toward the construction of such track together with a statement that he is ready, willing and able to comply with the orders of the Court in the first case. Whereupon the Court shall grant any appropriate relief authorized by law.

STOCK IN PENS.

Immediately upon the delivery of the livestock by the shipper and their being accepted by the railroad company the railroad company's liability commences. The general rule is that a common carrier is an insurer of the safe delivery of the livestock. The delivery to a railroad company of livestock in good condition and the arrival of the livestock at destination in bad condition makes a prima facie case against the carrier. The railroad company is liable for any loss or injury from whatever cause arising, excepting only the act of God or the public enemy. By “the act of God or the public enemy” is meant such things as cannot be foreseen and guarded against. For instance: A washout is of common occurrence and should be guarded against and the carrier is held liable for any damages caused thereby. But in the case of a tornado or a stroke of lightning it is different—it would be impossible to guard against either of them and to hold a carrier liable would be an injustice.

While the railroad company is not an insurer of the arrival of its trains on schedule time, still in case of a material delay the company must show that the delay was caused by some other than its own negligence.

The railroad company is not liable for damage to stock placed in the yards for subsequent shipment, the owner retaining the right to remove them before shipment and in such case the company’s liability is that of an ordinary bailee.

THE CONTRACT.

Under the constitution of the state of Nebraska “The liability of railroad corporations as common carriers shall never be limited” and, hence, any attempt to do so would be unconstitutional.

Any provision in a contract, binding upon the initial carrier, is binding upon its connection carriers. A railroad taking a shipment to be transported over its line to a certain junction and there transferred to another railroad for further transportation, binds both itself and the connecting carrier and both are liable in event of damage.

Blooded animals and valuable animals should be so stated and release valuation so stated. The decisions in this regard hold that a common carrier cannot release its liability to any amount less than the actual value of the stock and state that any provision in a contract attempting to so limit it is void—this on an intra-state (“in the state”) shipments but hold that on an inter-state (“from state to state”) shipment the provision is good. Thus, a hog valued at $40.00 is released at $10.00 in case of injury, death or damage. Now if this shipment moves wholly within the state of Nebraska this release is not good. However, if the hog is sent from Nebraska into Iowa, then the release holds and the shipper can recover but the released valuation—$10.00. The shipper will keep in mind, then, that any released value on a livestock shipment moving in this State is not good.

If a special market is desired it should be so stated in the contract, otherwise the carrier is held to schedule—subject, of course, to the eighteen hour law.

In the event of any damage or injury to stock due to the negligence of a railroad company or its employees the railroad company is liable for such injury irregardless of any provision in the contract to the contrary.

A carrier is liable for damages, losses, injury or the escape of stock by reason of defective yards or equipment.

As stated before the railroad company is liable for defective cars furnished for transportation of stock—the equipment must be safe, clean and any provision in the contract to the contrary is void.

A railroad company is liable for damages by fire in straw and hay used for feed while on the premises of the carrier or the escape of the stock from the cars.

A carrier is liable for misconduct of employees, laborers or others whom them employ to load unload or handle live stock, while in the performance of their duties.

A carrier is not liable for damages caused by the elements, except as contributed to by the negligence of the carriers. For example: A carrier would not be liable for hogs suffering from the heat, but it would be were the stock to suffer to a greater extent by the failure of the railroad company to provide a shed so that the animals could get in the shade.

Any provision limiting the time in which a claim is to be presented is void, except as provided by statute. For instance: A clause in a contract stipulation that the shipper loses his rights to file a claim after the expiration of thirty days, is utterly void and of no effect.

Any provision exempting the carrier from liability in case of injury to the person or persons in charge of livestock is void and of no force.

The shipper should insist on having a duplicate original of his contract (other than the one given him which carries his transportation permit) for his information and file.

It has also been held that in the event of a shipper agreeing to personally accompany and take care of the watering of the livestock and is given free transportation for that purpose and supplied with adequate facilities, that he cannot be heard to complain at the end of the trip that the stock did not receive that attention, as the fault is his own. But should the shipper agree to furnish a caretaker and fail to do so and the company being aware of this failure, proceeds under the shipping contract, in that event the railroad company would be liable to the shipper for any loss resulting from such failure to properly care and protect the stock. So is it also true that in case of no agreement being entered into regarding this feature, that the company will be liable for any want of proper care in transit and will be liable for any loss or damage.

Due care must always be exercised by the railroads in transporting a shipper's stock.

The shipper should keep the above points well in mind. Just what motive or reason prompts the incorporation of void provisions and stipulations in a live stock contract—or any other contract—when they certainly must be known to be utterly of no force and effect is an unanswerable question—unless it is the fact that it is an attempt to defeat the shipper of his rights in case of damage. No doubt the shipper, unaware of the voidness of these provisions, when brought face to face with them in event of damage, thinks he has defeated his rights of recovery by signing a contract containing such provisions and either withdraws his claim or accepts a small sum far below the amount he is entitled to in settlement—and thinks that the carrier has made him a gift out of the goodness of their hearts. These void provisions are very unfair and their incorporation in a contract, when once they are tested and found void, should be unlawful and should be punishable as a fraud committed upon the damaged shipper.

STOCKMEN'S TRANSPORTATION.

The shipper is entitled to transportation either for himself, his agent or employee from the point of origin of the shipment to destination and return to the point of origin. If more than six cars are shipped then the shipper is entitled to two men and should two or more cars be shipped in two or more different trains or in two separate sections of the same trains, then the shipper would be entitled to have a man with each such train or section in which he has a car of stock.

Should the railroad company refuse transportation to the shipper then it would be liable for all damages sustained, the cost of the shipper's transportation to and returning from point of destination, together with the costs of suit and a reasonable attorney fee. For the second offense the statutes provide a liability of double the damages and cost of transportation both ways, together with the costs of suit and a reasonable attorney fee; and for the third offense, triple damages, triple costs of transportation, together with the cost of suit and a reasonable attorney fee.

CABOOSE.

The shipper is entitled to ride in a caboose or other suitable car so fitted as to be comfortable and sanitary. It must have a toilet room and water tank with plenty of clean water for the accommodation of the stockmen. If the train has a haul of seventy-five miles or more it shall be fitted with comfortable seats such as are used on ordinary passenger cars, adequate heat and ventilation; a toilet room and water tank with plenty of clean water. An additional car of similar character shall be furnished on all stock trains for the accommodation of care takers of stock at the first train division point reached after it shall appear that fifteen or more care takers are accompanying or will accompany live stock to be transported on such train prior to its arrival at the next train division point. The Nebraska State Railway Commission will see that these provisions are enforced. Upon arrival at stations where change of cars is necessary the caboose shall be stopped not more than one-half mile from waiting room to be provided by the railroad company and it is the duty of the conductor of the train, or other employee of and designated by said company to show the shipper where the waiting room is located and instruct him to remain there until called for; and at the time or before time of starting of the trains carrying the shipper it shall be the duty of an employee of the railroad company to call at the waiting-room and show him to his caboose or the car in which he is to ride, and this car must not be placed more than one half a mile from the waiting room. Should the above provision be violated the offending company shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction fined not less than $100, for each day's negligence or refusal to comply therewith.

SPEED OF LIVE STOCK SHIPMENTS.

Livestock must be transported at a rate of speed so that the time consumed in said journey from the initial point of receiving said stock to the point of feeding or destination, shall not exceed one hour for each 18 miles traveled, including the time of stops at stations and other points, except where the initial point is not a division station and on all branch lines not exceeding one hundred and twenty-five miles in length on which branch lines the rate of speed shall be such that not more than one hour shall be consumed in traversing each fourteen miles of distance including the time of stops at stations or other points, from the initial point to the division station or over said branches. The time consumed in picking up and setting out, loading and unloading stock at stations, shall not be included in the time required.

Upon branch lines not exceeding 125 miles in length, where there is less than six cars of live stock in one consignment, the railroad company may select and designate three days in each week as stock shipping days, and publish and make public the days so designated and after giving ten days notice of the days so selected and designated shall be required upon its branch lines to conform to the schedule above provided, but only upon such days.

For failure to maintain the speed above set forth the railroad company is liable to the shipper in the sum of ten dollars for each hour for each car over and in excess of such time, as liquidated damages.

This law has been tested through the Supreme Courts of the State and the United States and has been declared good.

THIRTY-SIX HOUR RELEASE.

The Federal Laws provide that all stock must be unloaded for feed, rest and water at the expiration of twenty-eight hours unless the shipper signs a release to the effect that they may be kept on board the cars for a period of not to exceed thirty-six hours. However, no stock can be released for a longer period and at the expiration of thirty-six hours the stock must be unloaded, as above set forth. The time consumed in loading and unloading the stock is not to be counted.

STOCK YARDS.

Upon arriving at the stock yards the stock must be handled in an expeditious manner. If it arrives between the hours of 6 o'clock A. M. and 6 o'clock P. M. it must be unloaded and yarded, when theshipper so requests within two hours after the delivery of the cars to the stock yards company by the connecting railroad, except in case of unavoidable delay or unusual circumstances. For each half hour's delay in handling and unloading the stock beyond the period above set out the stock yard shall forfeit and pay to the shipper the sum of $5.00 for each car of livestock so delayed. There is a further provision to the effect that this money must be paid within twenty-four hours after unloading the stock, and that payment is to be made by mailing a draft or certified check to the shipper, or his agent and in the event of collecting by law suit then an attorney's fee of five dollars per car shall be allowed the shipper—not to exceed $15.00 for any one shipment however.

The statutes declare a stock yards company to be a common carrier and under the control of the State Railway Commission and subject to its orders.

It is further provided that a record showing the time of delivery and turning over at the yard of stock to the commission firm, agent, or owner must be kept by every stock yard; that scale facilities sufficient to weigh all livestock without unreasonable delay must be furnished by such stock yards and that adequate yardage, capable of holding and handling all livestock must also be furnished and that no charge for yardage shall be made where yards are not furnished.

An act attempting to further regulate the stock yards was passed in 1897 but was declared unconstitutional by the Federal Courts and as the chances are that the State Courts would follow the lead of that court, this act will not be included in this book, as it would only tend to confuse.

An erroneous impression is sometimes entertained as to the conduct of business in a stock yards. It is not infrequently that the stock yards, the commission houses and the packers are all considered as being one institution. Three separate and distinct branches of business are found in the conduct of the livestock business.

First. The Stock Yards company does not do a business of buying and selling live stock. Its purpose is to furnish yards for the concentration and handling of live stock and its revenues are derived from pen rental and feed charges.

Second. The live stock commission man is not a buyer and seller of cattle, hogs and sheep, but he is the agent of the producer and handles the stock through the yards for a commission paid by the seller. He is the medium between the original owner and the packer.

Third. The packer does not speculate in live stock in the yards. He buys the live stock in the yards—takes it to the abattoir (slaughterhouses) and there proceeds by different processes to transform that stock into merchantable packing house products.

However, not all of the live stock arriving in the stock yards goes direct to the packers. The stock yards has another market. Much of the stock arriving at the yards is unfit for killing. Large numbers of this class of stock—cattle and sheep especially—are bought by farmers to be taken back to the country to be fed out and made ready for the slaughter house and the meat block.

Note: Stock brought into this country from foreign countries for exhibition or breeding purposes and teams of immigrants are admitted free of duty.
Common Carrier Liability

We will not take time to dwell here on the points of liability discussed in the previous chapter. It is well, however, to emphasize some further points which properly fall under this heading.

Regarding stock in transit—A railroad company is not liable for damage caused by the elements, (heat, etc); the inherent nature or propensities of the animal, except as contributed to by the negligence of the railroad. The burden of proof is on the carrier to show that the loss resulted from some cause which would have exempted it from liability.

GATES ETC.

It is the duty of the carrier to keep the gates of openings closed on the right of way, and any damages resulting from the failure or neglect of the railroad to close the openings shall make them liable for any damage caused thereby.

STOCK KILLED ON TRACKS.

The railroad company is liable for all livestock killed or injured by their agents or employees or engineers or the agents, employees or engineers belonging to any other railroad running over and upon their tracks in the event that both sides of their railroad track is not fenced. In the event that the animal is killed or injured, the owner should make an affidavit to that effect to any officer or agent of the company, and after thirty days' such notice in the event of the failure of settlement, the owner may bring an action to recover damages and the railroad company shall be liable in double the value of the animal injured killed or destroyed. Should the railroad company not object to the value of the property within ten days after the receipt of such notice, then it shall be considered and taken as the true value. If the railroad company does object they should, within ten days, leave a written notice to that effect at the residence or place of business of the owner of the stock.

ANIMAL INJURED BY RAILROAD.

It is the duty of the track walkers and section men of any railroad company on whose tracks a domestic animal has been injured to care for the animal at once and to report the facts to the nearest station agent and the station agent must notify the Nebraska State Humane Society.

If the animal is injured by a train then the conductor must report the fact to the agent at the first regularly scheduled stop and the agent shall notify the section boss or other men in charge of the section on which the animal is injured and they shall take care of the animal—the station agent also reporting the facts to the Nebraska State Humane Society.

Should such animal be maimed beyond hope of recovery, then it is the duty of the above mentioned persons to forthwith kill such animal.

In the event that the animal is not killed then the agent shall give notice as quickly as possible of the condition of the animal to the owner or his agent, and upon receipt of such notice the owner of his agent shall have the animal properly cared for. But when immediate notice to the owner is not possible, then the station agent must have the injured animal properly cared for without delay.

It is expressly provided that any reports given as above set forth shall not be held to be an admission of liability or responsibility on the part of the company for the injury of the animal nor shall it be considered a waiver or relinquishment by the owner of any right or claim to damages from said company.
The penalty for violation of the above provisions is a fine of from five to one hundred dollars.

LIABILITY FOR DELIVERY OF FREIGHT.

The law states that any railroad company receiving freight for transportation shall be entitled to the same rights and be subject to the same liabilities as common carriers. And that whenever two or more railroads are connected together, the company owning either of said roads receiving freight to be transported to any place on the line of either of the roads so connected shall be liable as common carriers for the delivery of such freight to the consignee of said freight, in the same order in which such freight was shipped.

ASSENT BY OPPOSITE PARTY OF LIMIT OF LIABILITY.

No notice, either express or implied, shall be held to limit the liabilities of any railroad company as common carriers, unless they shall make it appear that such limitation was actually brought to the knowledge of the opposite party and assented to by him, or them, in express terms, before such limitation shall take effect.

Freight Rates

Freight rates are a scientific study in themselves and it is wholly impracticable to either incorporate them bodily in this volume, as they are constantly subject to change, nor is it practicable to give the rules governing their making. Thousands of experts are daily at work revising and correcting the rates applicable to the various commodities that are constantly moving. However, the tariffs are kept on file at the various stations of the different railroads and are for public reference. The shipper can verify any rate quoted him by a local agent by reference to these tariffs. However this Association will gladly furnish, gratis, the current rate effective between any points.

Assuming a car mixed with cattle and hogs to originate at Benton, Nebraska, (a point eight miles east of Columbus) and destined to Sarpy, Nebraska, (a point eleven miles west of Omaha, Nebraska) the shipment moving in a standard car and the total distance being 72 miles. How is the rate determined?

Primarily, stock is classed for the purpose of rate application—and as a car that is made up of mixed stock takes the rate applicable to the highest grade of stock in the car, the rate will be that of hogs.

Applying the distance tariff the rate on hogs would be (assuming the total net weight of the stock to be 25,000) $35.05, and this would be the charge for the shipment under that tariff.

However, in no case shall the rate to any point be greater than the rate to a point further along the line and as the rate from Columbus to Omaha on this shipment would be $32.93, and as Benton and Sarpy are intermediate points this rate of $32.93 would apply.

So it will be seen that the shipper should be so familiar with the various rules and regulations that he can plan and ship his stock in an advantageous manner. These rules and regulations are set out at length in a separate chapter of this book and should be carefully read.
Shipping Laws

It shall be the duty of the State Railway Commission to enforce the provisions of this Act, provided however, that upon a proper showing by any railroad company that it cannot comply with the terms of this act by January 1st, 1912, the State Railway Commission is hereby empowered to grant such extension of time as it may deem reasonable and just.

publish and make public the days so designated and after giving ten days notice of the days so selected and designated, shall be required upon its branch lines to conform to the schedule in this act provided, only upon said days so designated as stock shipping days.

ANNO. (A common carrier of live stock is generally an insurer of their safe delivery. The delivery of stock to a carrier in good order and their arrival at their destination in bad order, makes a prima facie case against the carrier. A cause for unavoidable delay affords no excuse for a failure to exercise that degree of care required of a common carrier in the transportation of stock. The carrier cannot relieve itself of responsibility by a written contract whereby the shipper agreed to accompany the stock, when the carrier with knowledge of the failure on the part of the shipper to accompany the stock proceeds under the shipping contract.)

PENALTY FOR VIOLATION OF ACT.

Any individual, corporation, or association of individuals, violating any provisions of this act shall pay to the owner of such live-

A copy of which shall be delivered to the agent of the railroad company and from the shipment originated, before the shipment is made, and a copy of which shall be immediately delivered to the owner or shipper of said stock and when properly made out and signed as hereinbefore provided, shall entitle the owner or shipper of said stock to remove the same from the county and shall entitle any railroad company to receive the same for shipment out of the county.

Fence Laws

While the fence laws of the state are not strictly speaking "stock laws," still they have a close application thereto, and for that reason it is deemed advisable to give them in a brief form. Materially they are as follows:

LAWFUL FENCE.

Any structure or hedge or ditch in the nature of a fence, used for the purposes of enclosure which is such as good husbandmen generally keep, is deemed in law to be a lawful fence.

If the fence is a rail fence it shall consist of at least six rails, secured by stakes at the end of each panel, well set in the ground, with a rider upon the stakes.

A board fence shall consist of not less than three boards of at least five inches in width and one inch thick; well secured to posts, such posts not to be more than eight feet apart.

A rail and post fence shall consist of at least three rails, well secured at each end to posts and the posts must not be more than ten feet apart.

A pole and post fence must consist of not less than four poles, well secured to posts and the posts are not to be more than seven feet apart.

A wire fence must consist of at least four wires of such size not less than number nine fence wire, well secured to posts and the posts must not be more than one rod apart, with a stake or post between every two posts to which the wire shall be attached.

All the above fences must be at least four and one-half feet in height and the spaces between the boards, rails, poles and wires of such fences shall not exceed one foot each, measuring from the top.

A hedge fence of sage orange shall consist of at least one row of plants not more than eight inches apart at the surface of the ground and shall be such as the fence viewers shall decide a lawful fence. A hedge fence of willow or other trees shall consist of at least one row planted not more than fifteen inches apart at the surface of the ground and at least two and one-half inches in diameter, and at least six feet in height.

"Warner's patent" fence shall be at least four and one-half feet high, and of not less than five boards at least five inches wide and one inch thick.

LIVE FENCES.

The owner or occupier of lands bordering upon a public road or highway, except a street or alley in a town, may plant and cultivate any hedge, or live fence, along the margin of their land, but such fence must be set directly in line with the road, with a protection fence, and shall not occupy more than six feet of the margin or edge of said road and such protection fence, when placed opposite to any live fence or hedge, shall be permitted to remain for the term of seven years; provided that the county commissioners may grant permission in writing to the owner to continue such protection fence any term of time which they may deem necessary. This does not apply to railroad companies.

PARTITION AND DIVISION FENCES.

It has been held that where a person constructs a division fence without complying with the statute he can not have contribution from the owner of adjoining land, hence it is essential that the following provisions be complied with in order that each party's rights may be protected:

When two or more persons have adjoining lands, each of them shall make and maintain a just proportion of the division fence between them, except the owner of either of the adjoining lands shall choose to let his lands lie open, but should he afterwards enclose his lands then he must pay a just proportion of the value, at the time, of any division fence that shall have been made by such adjoining owner, or he shall immediately build his proportion of such division fence.

The value of such division fence and the proportion to be made and maintained by him in case of his enclosing his land, shall be determined by any two fence viewers of the precinct, in the county, and all disputes arising concerning the proportion of fence to be made or maintained by either party shall be settled by the fence viewers of the county; and in such case it shall be the duty of the fence viewers to distinctly mark and define the proportion of the fence to be made or maintained by each.

These fence viewers are selected as follows: Each party shall choose one, and if either party neglect, after eight days' notice to make such choice then the other party may select both. The fence viewers have power to subpoena, administer oaths to, and examine witnesses on all questions submitted to them. Justices of the peace are ex-officio fence viewers of the county. The fees of the fence viewers are one dollar per day each, for the time necessarily spent, payable in the first instance by the party requiring their service; and all expenses of the view shall be borne equally between the parties, except in case of view to appraise damages for neglect or refusal to make or maintain a just proportion of the division fence, in which case the cost of view shall be paid by the party in default, and may be recovered as a part of the damage assessed in a civil action in any court of this state.

Upon choosing of the viewers they shall proceed to examine the premises and hear the allegations of the parties; in case of their disagreement, they shall select another fence viewer to act with them, and the decision of any two of them shall be final upon the parties to such disputes and upon all parties holding under them. Their decision shall be made in writing; shall contain a description of the fence, of the proportion to be maintained by each, and their decision upon any of the disputed points submitted to them shall be filed immediately in the office of the county clerk.

Should any person who is liable to contribute to the erection or reparation of a division fence neglect or refuse for the period of four weeks after notice in writing, to make and maintain his proportion of the fence, the party injured may make or repair the same at the expense of the party neglecting or refusing and can be recovered from such party with cost of suit. The neglecting party is also liable for all damages caused by such neglect or refusal determinable by any two fence viewers selected as above provided—their appraisement of such damage to be reduced to writing and properly signed.

REMOVAL OF DIVISION FENCE.

Any person who has made his proportion of a division fence can remove such proportion after giving the adjoining owner at least sixty days' notice in writing of his intention to do so, but such fence can only be removed between the first day of December and the first day of April and at no other time of the year. If such fence is removed without such notice the party removing the same shall pay to the injured party all damages the injured party has suffered, to be recovered with costs of suit.

DIVISION FENCE DESTROYED BY CASUALTY.

Should a division fence be injured or destroyed by fire, flood or any other casualty the person bound to make and repair such fence, or any part of it, shall make or repair the same, or his just proportion thereof, within ten days after he shall be thereto required by any person interested therein, such notice to be in writing and signed by party making the same. Should he neglect or refuse to do so for a period of ten days after such written request the party injured may make or repair the fence at the expense of the party refusing or neglecting and such amount can be recovered with cost of suit.
REMOVAL OF FENCES, FOR PUBLIC ROAD.

Whenever a public road is ordered to be established or altered, which road shall pass through or on inclosed lands not planted or sowed with crops, the road overseer shall give the owner or occupant of such land sixty days' notice in writing to remove his fences, and upon the failure of the owner so to do the overseer shall cause the same to be removed and the road opened and worked and the owner shall forfeit the sum of one dollar for every day he permits his fence to remain after the expiration of the sixty days, and pay all necessary cost of removal, to be collected by the overseer before any justice of the peace of competent jurisdiction.

INJURING FENCES, GATES, ETC. (Criminal.)

Any person who shall wantonly or maliciously throw, put, or lay down, prostrate, deface or injure any fence enclosing an orchard, pasture, meadow, garden, yard or other field or inclosure, the property of, or lawfully occupied by any other person or persons, or corporation, or shall wantonly or maliciously open, let down, throw down, prostrate, injure or deface any gate, or bars belonging to any such inclosure, every such person shall be found in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

RAILROAD FENCES—NOTICE TO FENCE.

Every railroad corporation whose lines of road or any part thereof are open for use shall erect and maintain fences on the sides of their roads, or the part of their road open for use, such fences to be suitably and amply sufficient to prevent stock from getting on the right of way, except at the crossings of public roads and highways and at farm crossings, openings or gates or bars, for the use of the proprietors of the lands adjoining such railroad shall be established. There shall also be established at all road crossings, cattle guards suitable and sufficient to prevent stock from getting on the right of way of such railroad corporation and its agents shall be liable for all damages to stock by the agents, engines, or trains of such railroad and those of any other railroad companies permitted to run on their railroad.

Should such fences and guards be kept in good and sufficient repair, such railroad company shall not be liable for damages, unless negligently or willfully done.

Any person owning land adjoining the right of way of any railroad company who intends to enclose his land, or any part of it, that adjoins the railroad, may notify in writing the railroad company of his intention, and request the railroad company to build a "lawful fence" on the line between their railroad and the land intended to be enclosed. Such notice shall definitely specify two points on such land between which points such fence is requested to be erected, and describe the field intended to be enclosed. The railroad company shall, within six months after receiving such notice, cause to be erected the fence required by such notice, and in case of a failure so to do, the party so giving the notice may cause such fence to be erected at a reasonable cost, and collect the amount thereof from the railroad company.

Said payment to be made by mailing draft or certified check to agent or owner. SEC. 5. EXAMINATION UPON COMPLAINT—EXPENSES, HOW PAID. When complaint is made to the state board of agriculture that a stallion or jack is diseased and on investigation it is by the department deemed necessary, an examination shall be made by the state veterinarian or his duly authorized deputy, the owner of such stallion or jack shall select some recognized graduate or licensed veterinarian to act with the state veterinarian and the said veterinarian shall, on receipt of a notice act jointly with the state veterinarian, and these two shall appoint a third graduate or licensed veterinarian to act with them and their decision shall be final. diseases and unsoundnesses enumerated in section three (3)). Said certificate must be filed with the secretary of the state board of agriculture, who shall issue a certified copy of said certificate of soundness without charge to said importer, which shall serve as a temporary permit to offer said stallion for public service, sale, exchange or transfer until such time as original certificate of pedigree can be produced and state certificate of enrollment and soundness issued. Said temporary permit shall be invalid after ninety (90) days from date of issue.

SEC. 8. CERTIFICATE OF SOUNDNESS. Add to chapter one hundred (100) of the acts of the 34th general assembly the following sections to follow section seven (7):

SEC. 10. PERMANENT STATE CERTIFICATE OF SOUNDNESS—FEE. SEC. 11. BLIND STALLION OR JACK. The owner of any blind stallion or jack may upon application have the same examined at the expense of the owner of said animal by a board of three examiners, one to be the state veterinarian or his duly authorized deputy, one to be selected by the owner of the animal who shall be a graduate or licensed veterinarian and these two shall appoint a third graduate or licensed veterinarian who shall act with them, and if upon examination and proof furnished, all three or any two members of said board declare that such blindness was caused by accident or disease not transmissible, then upon affidavit of said board the secretary of the State Board of Agriculture shall be authorized to issue a state certificate.

SEC. 12. IN EFFECT. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Register Leader and Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in the city of Des Moines, Iowa.

Dairy Profits

The experience of many farmers has shown that a silo pays for itself in one season, therefore yielding a return of 100 per cent right after the first season. The silo is today an absolute necessity to the successful farmer. The low cost of silage as compared with other feed is a great factor in modern farming. When you stop to think that the same acreage which formerly supported ten can support, with the addition of a silo, fifteen to twenty cows, it does not take long to figure out the profits to you. More milk with but little over the cost of feed is another result of feeding silage. With the present high price of land a good silo is as necessary today to the up-to-date farmer as a cream separator.

Are You Silo Wise?

Silo wisdom means larger profits for you. Order a "Corn Belt" Silo right now. If you want a "Corn Belt" Silo in a couple of months, don't wait until then, but order it now. We will ship when instructed to do so. Remember that thousands of farmers will want "Corn Belt" Silos. Get your order in early.

WHEN EFFECTIVE—REPEAL—PENDING LITIGATION.
This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the first day of January.

LIEN UPON PROGENY OF STALLION FOR SERVICE FEE.

SECTION 1. The owner or keeper of a stallion kept for public services who has complied with sections twenty-three hundred and forty-one-a (2341a), twenty-three hundred and forty-one-b (2341-b) twenty-three hundred and forty-one-c (2341-c) and twenty-three hundred and forty-one-d (2341-d), of the supplement to the code, 1907 shall have a prior lien upon the progeny of such stallion to secure the amount due owner or keeper for the service of such stallion, resulting in said progeny, provided that where such owner or keeper misrepresented such stallion by false pedigree no lien shall be obtained.

SEC. 2. LIMITATION OF LIEN. The lien herein provided for shall remain in force for a period of six months from the birth of said progeny and shall not be enforced thereafter.

SEC. 3. ENFORCEMENT—PROCEDURE. The owner or keeper of such stallion may enforce the lien herein provided for in the hands of any constable an affidavit containing a description of the stallion and a description of the dam and the time and terms of service, and said constable shall thereupon take possession of said progeny and sell the same for non-payment of service fee by giving the owner of said progeny ten (10) days written notice which notice shall contain a copy of the affidavit and a full description of the progeny to be sold, and time and hour when, and the place at which the sale will take place, and posting for the same length of time in three public places in the township of such owner's residence a copy of such notice. If payment of the service fee and the costs are not made before the date thus fixed the constable may sell at public auction to the highest bidder such progeny and the owner or keeper of the stallion may be a bidder at such sale. The constable shall apply the proceeds first in the payment of the costs, second, in the payment of the service fee. Any surplus arising from sale shall be returned to the owner of the progeny.

SEC. 4. THE RIGHT TO FORECLOSE MAY BE CONTESTED. The right of the owner or keeper to foreclose, as well as the amount claimed to be due may be contested by anyone interested in so doing, and the proceeding may be transferred to the district court, for which purpose an injunction may issue, if necessary.

Domestic Animals

MEANING OF TERMS. As used in this chapter, the term "owner" used with reference to animals, means anyone entitled to the present possession thereof, the one having care or charge of them and the person holding the legal title to them, and as to land the person having title thereto, or the lessee or occupant thereof; the term "stock" means cattle, horses, mules and asses; the term "animals" means all animals which may be distrained under this chapter; and "trespassing stock or animals" means those unlawfully upon land, or running at large contrary to law or police regulations.

MALE ANIMALS RUNNING AT LARGE. The owner of any stallion, jack, bull, boar or buck shall restrain the same, and any person may take possession of any such animal running at large in the county in which such person resides, or in which he occupies or uses real estate, and give notice thereof to any constable in the county where taken, who shall sell the animal so taken at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, having given ten days’ notice of the time and place of sale describing the property by posting the same in three public places in the township wherein such animal was found at large. Out of the proceeds of sale he shall pay all costs and any damage done by said animal, to be investigated and determined by him, and pay the remainder into the county treasury for the use of the county. If legal proof be made to the county auditor by the owner of said animal of his right thereeto at any time within twelve months from the sale he shall order the proper amount to be paid to the owner out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated. If the owner, or any person for him, shall, on or before the day of sale pay the costs thus far made, and all damages to be determined by the constable if the parties cannot agree and make satisfactory proof of his ownership, the constable shall release the animal to him.

DISTRAINT DAMAGE FEASANT—RECOVERY. Any animal trespassing upon land fenced as provided by law may be distrained by the owner of such land, and held for all damages done thereon by it unless it escaped from adjoining land in consequence of the neglect of such land owner to maintain his part of a lawful partition fence. The owner of the land from which such animal escaped shall also be liable for such damages if it escaped therefrom in consequence of his neglect to maintain his part of a lawful partition fence, or if the trespassing animal was not lawfully upon his land, and he had knowledge thereof. If there be no lawful partition fence, and the line thereof has not been assigned either by the fence viewers or by agreement of the parties any animal trespassing across such partition line shall not be distrained, nor shall there be any liability therefor.

WHAT ANIMALS NOT PERMITTED TO RUN AT LARGE. Swine, sheep and goats at all times, and, during the time and as required by a police regulation adopted according to law, stock shall be restrained from running at large. Animals thus prohibited from running at large when trespassing on land, or a road adjoining thereto, may be distrained by the owner of such land, and held for damages done by them, and for the costs provided in this chapter; but stock shall not be considered as running at large so long as it is upon unimproved lands and under the immediate care and efficient control of the owner or upon the public roads for travel or driving thereon under like care and control. But where a partition fence is required by law to be erected or maintained, stock escaping across such partition line shall be dealt with as provided in the preceding section.

RECOVERY OF DAMAGES. Instead of distraining trespassing stock or animals, the injured person may recover all damages caused thereby in an action against the owner thereof, and may join therein the owner of the land from which it escaped if he is liable therefor. If distrained stock or animals escape or are released without the consent of the distraining party, he may recover his damages as above provided, with costs, and the costs of distrain made prior to such escape or release.

APPORTIONMENT OF DAMAGES. If there is more than one owner of distrained stock or animals, each may pay his rateable share of the damages and costs, and release his animals. If the injured party elects to sue therefor, he may join in one action all or any of such owners who have not paid their proportion of the damages and costs.

ASSESSMENT OF DAMAGES—SALE. Within twenty-four hours after an animal has been distrained, Sunday not included the person distraining, or his agent, shall notify the owner of the animal thereof, and, if he fails to satisfy the damages and costs, such person shall within twenty-four hours after such notice to the owner, verbally or in writing, request the township trustees to appear upon the premises to view and assess the damages. When two or more trustees have met, one of them having previously informed the owner of the animal of the time and place of meeting, they shall assess the damages and costs. If the owner of the distrained animal refuses or neglects for two days thereafter to pay the amount thus assessed, one of said trustees shall put up in three conspicuous places in the township notices describing the property, and naming a time and place of sale, which place shall be where the property is distrained, and time not less than five nor more than ten days thereafter, that said property will be sold between the hours of one and three o'clock in the afternoon. At the time and place of sale, one of said trustees shall offer for sale and sell the property at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, but no sale shall be made after having realized a sufficient sum with which to pay the damages and costs, any remaining animals unsold to be at once returned to the owner, and also the surplus remaining if any, out of any sold. If for any reason a trustee cannot sit, the remaining trustees may appoint any disinterested citizen having the qualifications of a juror to act in his place.

ASSESSMENT MADE—APPEAL. The trustees shall make their assessment in writing and file the same with the township clerk, which shall be recorded by him. Any person aggrieved by the action of the trustees may appeal to the district court of the county. The appeal bond conditioned to pay all costs and damages, shall be filed with and the sureties approved by the township clerk, in a penalty double the value of the property distrained, or if the value of the property exceeds the amount of the damages claimed, then double the amount of the damages and costs. Notice of such appeal shall be given within five days and in the same manner as in appeals from a judgment of a justice of the peace. The appellant shall file an appeal bond within three days, Sunday not included, from the filing of the finding of the trustees, and when an appeal is thus taken by the claimant, the distrained stock or animals shall be held for the satisfaction of such judgment as may be rendered on appeal but the owner of said stock or animals may release the same at any time before judgment, by filing with the township clerk before the appeal is certified, or with the clerk of the district court thereafter, a bond with sufficient sureties to be approved by the clerk with whom filed, conditioned to pay all damages and costs recovered in said cause on appeal. The clerk receiving such bond shall file the same, and forthwith certify the fact to the person having charge of the distrained stock or animals, who shall thereupon release the same to the owner. Where the owner appeals and files a bond, as herein provided it shall operate as a supersedeas, and the distrained stock or animals shall be released to him. Within five days after the taking of the appeal, the township clerk shall make out a certified transcript of the record of the finding of the trustees, and file the same together with the notice of appeal, if in writing, and the bond with the clerk of the district court.

ESCAPE OR RELEASE—RECAPTURE. If any distrained animal escape or is unlawfully released, the injured person may recapture the same, and proceedings under this chapter shall continue until the assessment of damages is made, which shall be con-

PUNISHMENT FOR UNLAWFUL RELEASE. If anyone, without leave of the person having any animal under distraint, release the same, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

ESTRAYS. Any animal of an unknown owner running at large or trespassing within a lawful inclosure is an estray, and may be taken up by any householder in the county. except an unbroken animal between the first day of May and the first day of November, where such unbroken animal is not required to be restrained by a police regulation.

TAKING UP. If any animal, liable to be taken up as an estray comes upon any householder's premises, any person may notify him of the fact, and, if he fail to take up such estray for more than five days thereafter, any other householder in the same township may take it up and proceed with it as if taken upon his own premises if he shall produce proof to a justice of the peace of the service of such notice. All persons taking up stray animals shall state under oath before said justice where the same were taken up.

NOTICES POSTED. Any person taking up an estray shall within five days thereafter post up a written notice in three of the most public places in the township, which notice shall contain a full description of said animal and a statement as to where the same was taken up. Unless such estray shall have been previously claimed by the owner, the person taking it up shall within ten days go before a justice of the peace in the township in which the estray was taken up, or, in case there is no justice in the township, then before the next nearest justice in the county, and make oath to the correctness of said notice, together with a statement attached thereto as to whether the marks or brands of said animal have been altered to his knowledge either before or after the same was taken up, which notice shall be recorded by the justice in his estray book, and within five days forwarded by him to the county auditor, who shall enter the same in the estray book in his office, and shall cause a copy of said notice to be posted at the court house door.

PUBLICATION. If the estray is stock, the auditor shall cause the notice to be published once each week for three weeks in some newspaper in the county.

FEES AND EXPENSES. The person taking up an estray shall pay the fee of the justice for administering the oath, recording the notice in his estray book and forwarding the notice to the auditor, and shall also pay to the justice, to be transmitted to the auditor, the fee of the auditor for entering the notice in his estray book, and for posting a copy of the notice, and also, if the estray is stock, the sum of one dollar and fifty cents to cover the expense of publishing the notice, which amount so paid in advance for fees and expenses, together with the compensation allowed by law shall be refunded to the person taking up such estray by the owner of it, in case restitution is made to him. If two or more estrays are taken up at the same time by the same person, they shall be included in one notice, and but one fee shall be paid therefor, and if only a part of the stock thus included is restored to the owner, a proportionate amount of such fees and expenses shall be refunded.

PROPERTY VESTS WHEN. If the estray be stock, and be not claimed by the owner within one year, or, being any other domestic animal, be not claimed by the owner within six months from the time it is taken up, the property therein shall vest in the taker up, if he has complied with the provisions of this chapter.
RECOVERY BY OWNER. At at time before the property in the estray vest in the person who has taken it up, the owner shall be entitled to recover possession of it on paying to the person who has taken it up the compensation to which he is entitled by law, and the fees and expenses which he has paid out in advance, together with any reward which has been offered by the owner and a reasonable allowance for the expenses of keeping such estray, taking into account the use which the person taking up has had of it, which allowance shall be made by the justice of the peace before whom a proceeding to recover the animal shall be brought in the event the owner and the taker-up cannot agree with reference thereto.

VALUE RECOVERED. At any time within six months after the property in an estray has vested in the taker-up, the owner shall be entitled on demand to be paid by the said taker-up the value of the estray not including any increased value which has accrued since it was taken up, after deducting therefrom the compensation, reward, fees and expenses referred to in the preceding section; or the taker-up may, at his option, elect to surrender the estray, if still in his possession, in which case the owner must pay such compensation, reward fees and expenses.

USE OR APPROPRIATION. Any person legally taking up an estray may use or work it, if he does so with care and moderation and does not abuse or injure it. But if any person unlawfully take up any estray or take up any estray and fail to comply with any of the provisions of this chapter, or use or work it in any manner contrary to this chapter, or work it before it has appraised, or keep it out of the county for more than five days, at any one time before he acquires a title to it he shall forfeit to the county twenty dollars, to be sued for by any person in the county; and the owner of the estray may also recover from such offender double the amount of the injury sustained, with costs. Estrays adapted thereto may be bred and milked by the taker-up.

FINDER NOT LIABLE. If any estray, legally taken up, escape from the finder or die without any fault on his part, he shall not be liable for the loss.

PENALTY AGAINST FINDER. If any person shall sell, trade or take out of the state any estray before the legal title shall have vested in him, he shall forfeit to the owner double its value, and shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor. But the auditor may authorize the taker-up to transfer the estray to another, who shall take the place of his predecessor.

PENALTY AGAINST OFFICER. If any printer, auditor or justice of the peace fail to perform the duties enjoined upon him in this chapter in relation to estrays, he shall forfeit to the county not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, to be sued for by any person in the county.

BOND TO RELEASE. Before any property held under this chapter vests in the taker-up it may be released at once upon the owner giving to the holder a bond to be approved by the justice of the peace before whom the proceedings concerning the property have been had conditioned to pay to the holder of the property, within twenty days after such approval, all costs and damages to which he is entitled on account of his action and loss in the matter.

MARKS AND BRANDS. The board of supervisors of each county shall procure, at the expense of the county, a book for each civil township, to be in the custody of the township clerk, in which to record the marks and brands of horses, sheep, hogs and other animals.

RECORD. Any person wishing to mark or brand his domestic animals with any distinguishing mark may adopt his own mark, and have a description thereof recorded by the clerk of the township in which the owner lives, for which such clerk shall recieve a fee of twenty-five cents.
MARK PREVIOUSLY RECORDED. No person shall adopt a mark or brand previously recorded to another person residing in the same township nor shall the clerk record the same one to two persons, unless on their joint application.

of any animal whose owner has abandoned it, or fails to properly take care and provide for it, and may furnish the same with proper shelter, nourishment and care at the owner's expense, and shall have a lien on such animal for the same, which, at the expiration of three months, shall become a perfect title to the property.

FOOD AND WATER SUPPLIED. In case any animal impounded or otherwise confined shall be without necessary food or water for more than twelve successive hours it shall be lawful for any person, as often as necessary, to enter the pound, inclosure or building and supply it with necessary food and water same may be collected by him from the owner of the animal.

When the adjoining lands are situated in different townships in the same or different counties the clerk of the township of the owner making the application shall select two trustees of his township as fence viewers, and the clerk of the other township one from his own township, who shall possess, in such case, all the powers given to fence viewers in this chapter but all orders, notices and valuations and taxation of costs made by them must be recorded in both townships.

FENCE ON ANOTHER'S LAND. When a person has made a fence or other improvement on an inclosure, which is found to be on land of another, such person may enter upon the land of the other and remove his fence or other improvement and material, upon his first paying or offering to pay, the other party for any damage to the soil which may be occasioned thereby, and the value of any timber used in said improvement taken from the land of such other party, if any; and if the parties cannot agree as to the damages the fence viewers may determine them as in other cases; such removal shall be made as soon as practicable, but not so as to expose the crops of the other party.

LINE FENCES. A person building a fence may lay the same upon the line between him and the adjacent owners, so that it may be partly on one side and partly on the other, and the owner shall have the same right to remove it as if it were wholly on his own land.

Provided, however, that all partition fences may be made tight by the party desiring it, and when his portion is so completed, and securely fastened to good substantial posts, set firmly in the ground, not more than twenty (20) feet apart, the adjoining property owner shall construct his portion of the adjoining fence in a like tight manner, same to be securely fastened to good substantial posts, set firmly in the ground not more than twenty (20) feet apart. Upon the application of either owner after notice given as prescribed in this chapter, the fence viewers shall determine all controversies arising under this section, including the partition fences made sheep and swine tight.
WHERE STOCK RESTRAINED. This chapter shall be construed the same in counties where stock is restrained from running at large as where not so restrained.

APPEAL. An appeal may be taken to the district court from any order or decision of the fence viewers by any person affected in the same manner appeals are taken from justices of the peace, except that the appeal bond shall be approved by the township clerk, in which event the township clerk after recording the original papers shall file them in the office of the clerk of the district court, certifying them to be such, and the clerk shall docket them, entitling the applicant or petitioner as plaintiff, and it shall stand for trial as other cases.

RECORD KEPT—FEES OF CLERK. FENCES—CROPS. A reasonable time must be allowed to enable the owners of land to erect the necessary fences adjoining the (a) new road; and when crops have been so planted or sowed before the road is finally established the opening thereof shall be delayed until the crop is harvested.

CATTLE WAYS ACROSS HIGHWAYS. Upon application to the board of supervisors of any county by any person for permission to construct a cattle-way across, over or under any public road, it may grant the same upon condition that such way shall not interfere with the public travel; that the grade of the road over the cattle-way shall not exceed one foot in ten feet; and that it shall not obstruct the watering at any running stream. If the person on whose land such cattle-way is constructed fails to keep the same in repair, it shall be the duty of the road supervisor to make all necessary repairs, and charge the same to the owner of the land upon which such way is constructed, and upon his refusal or failure to pay, the supervisor shall recover the same in an action brought in his own name which money, when collected, shall be expended in improving or repairing the public roads in the district where such cattle-way is constructed.

APPLICATION FOR. Any person desiring to build a cattle-way across a public highway under any township bridge may apply to the board of trustees of the township wherein the same is to be located, at any meeting thereof, and it may grant such application and prescribe such conditions in regard to the maintenance of said bridge as it may think proper.

If such corporation fails or neglects to pay such damages within thirty days after notice in writing that a loss or injury has occurred, accompanied by an affidavit thereof. served upon any officer or station or ticket agent employed by said corporation in the county where such loss or injury occurred, such owner shall be entitled to recover from the corporation double the amount of damages actually sustained by him. No law of the state or any local or police regulations of any county, township, city or town, relating to the restraint of domestic animals, or in relation to the fences of farmers or land owners, shall be applicable to railway tracks unless specifically so stated in such law and regulation. Upon depot grounds necessarily used by the public and the corporation, the operating of trains at a greater rate of speed than eight miles an hour where no fence is built shall be negligence, and shall render such corporation liable for all damages occasioned thereby, in the same manner and to the same extent, except as to double damages, as in cases where the right to fence exists.

FENCES REQUIRED. All railway corporations owning or operating a line of railway within the state shall construct, maintain and keep in repair a suitable fence of posts and barb wire or posts and boards or any other fence which the fence viewers shall determine to be equivalent thereto, on each side of the track thereof, so connected with cattle-guards at all public road crossings as to prevent cattle horses and other live stock from getting on the railroad tracks. Such tracks shall be fenced within six months after the completion of the same or any part thereof. Such fences, when of barb wire, shall be of five wires to be not less than fifty-four inches high; or of five boards securely nailed to posts set not more than eight feet apart the fence to be not less than fifty-four inches high. Fences repaired or rebuilt shall conform to the foregoing provisions. Nothing in this or the two following sections shall be construed to compel a railway company operating a third-class line to fence its road through the land of any farmer or other person who, by written agreement with such company, waives the fencing thereof.

When the secretary of agriculture shall determine the fact that cattle or other live stock in the state or territory or the District of Columbia are affected with any contagious, infectious, or communicable disease, notice will be given of that fact. A rule will be issued placing in quarantine all or a portion of the state or territory or the District of Columbia in which the disease exists, and this rule will either absolutely forbid the movement of live stock from the quarantined area or will indicate the regulations under which live stock may be moved therefrom.

Regulation 2. Before offering cattle or other live stock for transportation, or transporting them, or introducing them into any public stock yards or upon public highways or lines of interstate traffic all persons or corporations owning, managing, or transporting cattle or other live stock are required to exercise reasonable diligence to ascertain that such animals are not affected with any contagious or infectious disease and have not been exposed to the contagion or infection of disease by contact with other animals so diseased or by location in or upon pens, premises, cars or other vehicles contaminated by diseased animals. All persons having charge of diseased or exposed cattle or other live stock are required to keep them confined and to permit no other animals to come in contact with them. Premises or vehicles which have contained diseased or exposed cattle or other live stock shall not be occupied by healthy animals until the said premises or vehicles shall have been disinfected as hereinafter provided.

Regulation 3. Cars, boats, and other vehicles that have been used for the interstate transportation of diseased or exposed cattle or other live stock shall be cleaned and disinfected as hereinafter provided. If the facilities for cleaning and disinfecting cars cannot be provided at the point of destination, the railroad company shall seal, bill, and forward the infected cars to a point to be agreed upon between an agent of the company and a representative of the bureau of animal industry and shall there clean and disinfect the said cars in the presence of an employee of the bureau of animal industry.

Regulation 4. Cars, boats, and other vehicles intended for use in interstate transportation of healthy and non-exposed cattle or other live stock within or from a quarantined area, shall be cleaned and disinfected as hereinafter provided unless it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the inspector of the bureau of animal industry either that said cars have been cleaned and disinfected according to regulation 3, and have not carried or contained animals since that cleaning and disinfection, or that the cars have never been used for the transportation of diseased or exposed animals.

Regulation 5. Public stock yards, feeding stations, and approaches, alleys and pens thereof, which have contained diseased or exposed animals, shall, before healthy or non-exposed animals are Regulation 6. When, in the opinion of the secretary of agriculture, the shipment or removal of hay, straw, forage, or similar material from a quarantined area is liable to spread the contagion or infection of any disease affecting live stock, said shipment or removal will either be absolutely prohibited or permitted under restrictions which will be indicated in each particular case.

Regulation 7. When deemed necessary, shipments of live stock and of the articles named in regulation 6 will be stopped in transit, for inspection and disposition and all persons and corporations having control of the transportation of such live stock or articles shall cease the carriage or transit of the same upon receipt of an order from an inspector of the bureau of animal industry, shall submit the live stock to inspection, and shall disinfect the said articles if required.

Regulation 8. Where, in order to prevent the spread of a disease it becomes necessary to slaughter any diseased or exposed live stock, the value of the live stock shall be ascertained and compensation made therefor, either by agreement with the owner or by appraisement in the manner provided by the law of the state or territory wherein the owner of the live stock has his legal residence.

Regulation 9. Where inspection and certification are required by the regulations of the secretary of agriculture, inspection and certification by an inspector of the bureau of animal industry are meant and such inspection and certification will be furnished without the payment of fees or charges of any nature.

Regulation 10. Live stock shipped from a quarantined area, not accompanied by a certificate of an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry showing freedom from disease or from exposure thereto, shall not be diverted en route to feed lots or to other states for feeding, stocking, or breeding purposes unless inspected and certified by an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

REGULATIONS TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF SPLENETIC FEVER OF CATTLE.

Regulation 11. Whenever any state or territory located within an area quarantined by the secretary of agriculture for splenetic, Southern or Texas fever shall duly establish a state or territorial quarantine line different from the line established by the secretary of agriculture and shall obtain the legislation requisite to enforce said state or territorial quarantine line strictly and completely within the boundaries of said state or territory the secretary of agriculture will, if the said state or territorial quarantine line be satisfactory, adopt by a rule said state or territorial quarantine line, and the state or territorial quarantine line as adopted shall define the limits of that portion of the quarantined area. The expiration of the time fixed in the rule the revocation of the rule, or a failure upon the part of the state officers to enforce the adopted line shall restore the quarantined area to the territory fixed by the secretary of agriculture before the adoption of the state or territorial quarantine line.

Regulation 12. Whenever any state or territory under authority of law shall establish a state or territorial quarantine line for splenetic fever which differs from the quarantine line established by the secretary of agriculture for the said disease, and shall desire a modification of the line established by the secretary of agriculture, the proper officer of the said state or territory shall forward to the secretary of agriculture a true map or description of such line and a duly authenticated copy of the laws and regulations relating to the establishment and enforcement of said line.

Regulation 13. From the 1st day of February to the 31st day of October, inclusive of each year no cattle shall be transported or driven or allowed to drift from the area quarantined by the secretary of agriculture for splenetic fever into any state or territory or the District of Columbia or portion thereof outside of the said quarantined area, except as hereinafter provided. During the months of January, November and December of each year cattle from the area quarantined by the secretary of agriculture for splenetic fever may be shipped without restrictions other than those imposed by state or territorial officers at point of destination.

Regulation 14. Cattle from the said quarantined area may be transported at any time by rail or boat, to a recognized slaughtering center outside the quarantined area for immediate slaughter, but cattle shall not be trailed or driven or hauled therefrom in private conveyance. When transported for immediate slaughter the said cattle shall be slaughtered within two weeks after arrival at destination and the following rules regarding their movement shall be observed:

(a) When any cattle in course of transportation from the quarantined area are unloaded, at a point outside of the quarantined area to be fed or watered, or for other purposes said cattle shall be placed in pens or yards reserved for cattle originating in the quarantined area, and a sign shall be conspicuously placed on all such pens or yards with the words “quarantine pens” or “quarantine yards” in letters not less than 10 inches in height. Cattle which have not originated in the quarantined area shall not be admitted into said pens or yards, and if cattle not originating in the quarantined area shall be placed in the said pens or yards said cattle shall thereafter be treated in all respects as if they had actually originated in the quarantined area.

(b) On unloading said cattle at their points of destination, chutes, alleyways and pens sufficiently isolated and marked with a sign as above, shall be set apart to receive them, and no other cattle shall be admitted to said chutes, pens, and alleyways, and the regulations relating to the movement of cattle from said area, as prescribed by the proper state officers at destination, shall be carefully observed. The cars or boats which have carried said cattle shall be cleaned and disinfected as hereinafter provided as soon as possible after unloading and before the said cars or boats are again used to transport, store, or shelter live stock or merchandise.

(c) Where cattle originating in the quarantined area and cattle originating outside of the quarantined area are yarded in adjacent pens, there shall be left a space between the said pens not occupied by cattle, and not less than ten feet wide and there shall be on each side of this space a tight board fence not less than five feet high.

(d) The proper officers of the railroad companies shall affix on both sides of all cars carrying cattle from the quarantined area, except as hereinafter provided, durable printed placards not less than 5½ by 8 inches in size, the letters of which shall be boldface and not less than 1½ inches in height. The placard shall state that said cars contain “southern cattle;” and each of the waybills, conductors’ manifests, memoranda, and bills of lading of said shipments by cars or boats shall have a statement of similar import plainly written or stamped upon its face. The placard shall state the name of the place from which the shipment was made, with the date and the name of the place of destination; said date must correspond with the date of the waybills and other papers. Whenever any cattle have come from said quarantined area and are reshipped from any point at which they have been unloaded to a point other than the original destination, or are transferred to another transportation company, the cars carrying said animals shall bear, on both sides, similar placards bearing the same information, which shall be affixed by the officers of the said transportation company, and the waybills, conductors' manifests, memoranda, and bills of lading of said shipments by cars or boats shall be so marked. At whatever point these cattle are unloaded they shall be placed in separate pens, as hereinbefore provided.

(e) No car or boat containing cattle from the quarantined area shall receive on board cattle which have originated or which are, at the time of loading, outside of said quarantined area. Cattle from the quarantined area shall not be shipped or transported when consigned to a point outside of said quarantined area where proper facilities have not been provided for transferring the said cattle from the cars or landing to the stock yards and slaughterhouses without passing them over public highways, unless proper permission for such passing is first had and obtained from the proper authorities at point of destination.

(f) The cars and boats used to transport cattle from the quarantined area, and also the chutes, alleyways, and pens not reserved for the exclusive use of such cattle used en route and at points of destination shall be disinfected in the following manner: Remove all litter and manure. This litter and manure may be disinfected by mixing it with lime or saturating it with a five per cent solution of 100 per cent carbolic acid; or, if not disinfected, it shall be stored where no cattle can come in contact with it during the period from February 1 to October 31 inclusive of each year. Wash the cars and the watering and feeding troughs with water until clean. Saturate the entire interior surface of the cars, including the inner surface of the car doors and the fencing, troughs, chutes, and floors of the pens with a mixture made of 1½ pounds of lime and ¼ pound of 100 per cent carbolic acid to each gallon of water, or with a solution made by dissolving four ounces of chloride of lime to each gallon of water.

(g) Cars which have carried cattle within the quarantined area shall be cleaned and disinfected before being taken out of the said area except when loaded with cattle in the course of transportation for immediate slaughter, in accordance with these regulations.

Regulation 15. Cattle infested with the Boophilus annulatus, or southern cattle tick disseminate the contagion of splenetic, southern or Texas, fever, therefore cattle originating outside of the quarantined area which are infested with the Boophilus annulatus ticks shall be considered as infected cattle and shall be subject to the regulations governing the movement of cattle originating in the quarantined area.

Regulation 16. Stock-yard companies receiving cattle infested with the said ticks shall place the said cattle in pens set aside for the use of cattle originating in the quarantined area and transportation companies are required to clean and disinfect all cars and boats which have contained the infected cattle, in accordance with the requirements of these regulations.

Regulation 17. Cattle which have been properly dipped in Beaumont crude petroleum, or in other petroleum approved by the secretary of agriculture under the supervision of an inspector of the bureau of animal industry, at a dipping station approved by the secretary of agriculture, and which have been examined and certified free of infection by the said inspector may be shipped from the quarantined area to any point outside the said area at any time, subject only to such restrictions as may be imposed by state or territorial officers at points of destination; but such cattle shall be shipped in clean, disinfected cars and shall not be driven through the quarantined area or be unloaded therein, except at such points as may be designated in the rules of the secretary of agriculture.

Regulation 18. Before accepting or moving a shipment of cattle from that portion of the quarantined area from which, under the rules of the secretary of agriculture cattle may be shipped after inspection, for purposes other than immediate slaughter, to a point outside the quarantined area transportation companies shall secure a signed statement from each owner or consignor of said cattle, showing the purpose for which the cattle are shipped. In every case this statement shall accompany the waybills.

REGULATIONS TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF SCABIES IN CATTLE.

Regulation 19. No cattle which are diseased with scabies shall be shipped or trailed from one state or territory into another state or territory or the District of Columbia, except as hereinafter provided; and no cattle shall be trailed, shipped or otherwise removed, or allowed to drift from a state or territory or portion thereof quarantined for the disease of scabies in cattle into another state or territory or the District of Columbia, except as hereinafter provided, unless the cattle have been inspected by an inspector of the bureau of animal industry found free of the disease, and are accompanied by a certificate from the said inspector.

The removal of cattle unaccompanied by a certificate of inspection from an inspector of the state or territory or the District of Columbia, or an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry, from a quarantined portion of a state or territory or the District of Columbia into a portion of the same state or territory or the District of Columbia, not quarantined, will subject the unquarantined portion of the state or territory or the District of Columbia to quarantine.

Regulation 20. In states or territories or portions thereof quarantined by the secretary of agriculture for scabies in cattle those cattle which upon inspection by an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry, at the time of shipment, are found to be free from symptoms of scabies shall be given a certificate and allowed to move to points outside the quarantined area for any purpose subject only to such restrictions as may be imposed by the state or territorial officers at points of unloading and destination; but if a herd or consignment, intended for feeding, breeding or stocking purposes be offered for inspection and shipment and a portion thereof is found to be diseased with scabies or if the cattle offered for inspection and shipment are part of a herd that is known to be so diseased, the diseased cattle offered for shipment shall be dipped twice in either the lime-and-sulphur or the tobacco-and-sulphur dip, or once in Beumont crude petroleum in the manner hereinafter provided, and the cattle offered for shipment which are not visibly diseased shall be dipped once before shipment.

Regulation 21. Cattle not visibly diseased with scabies may be shipped without inspection from points in the quarantined area to Buffalo, New York; Chicago Illinois; Cincinnati, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio; Denver, Colorado; Fort Worth, Texas; Indianapolis Indiana; Kansas City, Missouri; Kansas City, Kansas; Louisville, Kentucky; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; National Stock Yards, Illinois; South Omaha, Nebraska; Sioux City, Iowa; South St. Joseph, Missouri; St. Louis, Missouri; South St. Paul, Minnesota, or to any other market or slaughtering center where inspection is maintained and where facilities are available for either dipping or slaughtering under the supervision of this Department. When so shipped the cattle shall be submitted for inspection at destination and when found upon such inspection to be free from disease and exposure thereto, en route no further restriction shall be placed upon them. If found upon inspection to be infected, they shall not be permitted further shipment until treated as heretofore prescribed for diseased cattle.

When cattle are shipped without inspection under the terms of this regulation, the employees of the transportation company shall affix to both sides of each car a durable conspicuous printed placard not less than 5½ by 8 inches in size, the letters of which shall be boldface and not less than 1½ inches in height. These placards shall bear the words, "Uninspected Cattle" and shall not be removed until the cattle have arrived at destination and the inspector has indicated the disposition to be made of the cars. The waybills, conductors' manifests, memoranda, and bills of lading of said shipment shall also bear the notation "Uninspected cattle."

Regulation 22. Cattle diseased with scabies which have been dipped once in either the lime-and-sulphur or the tobacco-and-sulphur dip in the manner hereinafter provided, under the supervision of an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry, within ten days of date of shipment, and cattle not visibly diseased, but which are known to be a part of a diseased herd, may be shipped for immediate slaughter to a recognized slaughtering center, and when so shipped the said cattle shall not be diverted enroute, and shall be slaughtered within two weeks after arrival at destination. If cattle diseased with scabies are to be shipped for stockers or feeders they shall be dipped twice in either the lime-and-sulphur or the tobacco-and-sulphur dip ten days apart or once in Beaumont crude petroleum, under supervision, and shall be submitted to inspection before shipment. Cattle not visibly diseased, but which are known to be part of a diseased herd, intended for stockers or feeders, shall be dipped once before shipment. However, diseased cattle may be dipped once in either the lime-and-sulphur or the tobacco-and-sulphur dip under the supervision of an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry at the point of origin and shipped for stocking or feeding purposes, if arrangements have been made for the second dipping en route or at destination at the required time after the first dipping at a point where there is an inspector stationed, and under his supervision. Cattle not visibly diseased, but which are known to be part of a diseased herd, shipped to another state or territory, for feeding or stocking purposes, may be dipped en route instead of at point of origin by special permission first had and obtained from the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

Regulation 23. Healthy cattle in a state or territory not quarantined by the secretary of agriculture for scabies in cattle may be shipped in clean cars without inspection into any other state or territory for slaughter or for stockers or feeders, but if the said cattle be unloaded en route or at destination and are placed in infected premises, they shall be treated as exposed cattle, and shall not be forwarded to destination for purposes other than for immediate slaughter, until they shall have been dipped once in any dip herein approved under the supervision of an inspector of the bureau of animal industry.

Regulation 24. When either diseased cattle that have been dipped once in the lime-and-sulphur or the tobacco-and-sulphur dip, or cattle not visibly diseased, but which are known to be a part of a diseased herd, are shipped in accordance with Regulation 22, the employees of the transportation company shall affix to both sides of each car a durable conspicuous, printed placard, not less than 5½ by 8 inches in size, the letters on which shall be boldface, and not less than 1½ inches in height. These placards shall bear the words, "Dipped Scabby Cattle," or "Cattle Exposed to Scabies," and shall not be removed until the cattle have arrived at destination or point of dipping, have been unloaded, and the cars have been disinfected. The waybills, conductors’ manifests, memoranda, and bills of lading of said shipment shall also bear the notation, to be affixed by the transportation company, “Dipped Scabby Cattle” or “Cattle Exposed to Scabies.”

Regulation 25. The dips now approved by the department are the lime-and-sulphur dip, the tobacco-and-sulphur dip, and Beaumont crude petroleum. The lime-and-sulphur dip is made in the proportion of 12 pounds of unslaked lime and 24 pounds of flowers of sulphur to 100 gallons of water. Weigh both the lime and sulphur.
Place the unslaked lime in a mortar box or some suitable vessel and add enough water to slake the lime and form a lime paste or lime putty. Sift into this lime paste the flowers of sulphur and stir the mixture well. To make 100 gallons of dip, place the sulphur and lime paste in a kettle or boiler with about thirty gallons of boiling water and boil the mixture for two hours at least, stirring the liquid and sediment; add enough water when necessary to maintain the quantity. Draw the mixture and sediment into a large tub or barrel placed near the dipping vat and provided with a bung hole about four inches from the bottom, and allow ample time to settle—from two to three hours or more, if necessary. When fully settled, draw off the clear liquid into the dipping vat and add enough warm water to make 100 gallons. The same directions apply to larger quantities of dip, proportionate amounts of ingredients being used.

The tobacco-and-sulphur dip is made with sufficient extract of tobacco or nicotine solution to give a mixture containing not less than five one-hundredths of one per cent. of nicotine and two per cent. flowers of sulphur.

When Beaumont crude petroleum is used as a dip for cattle diseased with or exposed to scabies, one dipping only is necessary in any case, and the cattle shall be submerged but once and shall not be held in the dip.

The dipping shall be done thoroughly. When either the lime-and-sulphur or the tobacco-and-sulphur dip is used, the cattle shall be held in the dip two minutes unless the diseased cattle shall have been hand-dressed previously. The cattle shall be completely submersed twice. The dip shall be maintained as nearly as possible at a temperature of 105 deg. F. while the cattle are in it. It shall be renewed as soon as it becomes filthy, regardless of the number of cattle that have been dipped in it, and in no case shall it be used when more than one week old. In emptying the dipping vat the entire contents shall be removed, including all sediment and droppings or other foreign matter. The department assumes no responsibility for loss or damage resulting from the dipping.

Regulation 26. Cattle shipped under a certificate from an inspector of the bureau of animal industry are not guaranteed uninterrrupted transit; for, in the event of the development of scabies or exposure to the disease en route, the cattle shall then be handled as diseased or exposed cattle and shall be dipped as hereinbefore provided and the cars or other vehicles and the chutes, alleys, and pens which have been occupied by them shall be cleaned and disinfected.

Regulation 27. Public stock yards shall be considered infected and the cattle yarded therein as having been exposed to the disease, and no cattle shall be removed from said public stock yards, except for immediate slaughter, without dipping. Where, however, a part or all of the stock yards is reserved and set apart for the reception of uninfect ed shipments of cattle and is kept free of disease, cattle may be shipped from the said uninfect ed yards or portions thereof without dipping. If diseased cattle are introduced into said uninfect ed yards or portions thereof, they shall be immediately removed therefrom and the chutes, alleys, and pens used by them thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. No cattle shall be forwarded for feeding or stocking purposes from any stock yards where an inspector of the bureau of animal industry is stationed without a certificate of inspection or of dipping issued by the said inspector.

Regulation 28. Cars and other vehicles yards, pens, sheds, chutes, etc., which have contained diseased cattle shall be cleaned and disinfected immediately after the cattle are removed therefrom in the following manner: Remove all litter and manure and then saturate the interior surfaces of the cars and woodwork, flooring, and ground of the chutes, alleys, and pens with a five per cent, solution of 100 per cent. carbolic acid in water with sufficient lime to show where it has been applied.

REGULATIONS TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF SCABIES
IN SHEEP.

Regulation 29. No sheep which are diseased with scabies shall be shipped or trailed from one state or territory into another state or territory, or the District of Columbia, except as hereinafter provided and no sheep shall be trailed or shipped from a state or territory or portion thereof quarantined for the disease of scabies in sheep into another state or territory or the District of Columbia, except as hereinafter provided, until the sheep have been inspected by an inspector of the bureau of animal industry, found free of the disease and of exposure thereto, and are accompanied by a certificate from the said inspector. For the purpose of these regulations all of the sheep in a certain flock or shipment in which the disease is present shall be considered diseased, and none of the sheep in the said diseased flock or shipment shall be removed or offered for shipment until dipped, as hereinafter provided. The practice of “picking” a flock—i. e., removing sheep which are visibly diseased and then offering any portion of the remaining sheep for either inspection or shipments or both—is directly and positively prohibited.

Regulation 30. Healthy sheep in an area are not quarantined for the disease of scabies in sheep which have not been exposed to the disease may be shipped or trailed without restriction by the regulations of the secretary of agriculture to prevent the spread of scabies in sheep, but if the said sheep be unloaded, en route or at destination and are placed in infected premises they shall be treated as exposed sheep and shall not be forwarded to destination for purposes other than immediate slaughter until they shall have been dipped under the supervision of an inspector of the bureau of animal industry.

Regulation 31. Sheep that are diseased with scabies and which have been dipped once in the manner hereinafter provided, under the supervision of an inspector of the bureau of animal industry, within ten days of date of shipment. may be shipped for immediate slaughter to a recognized slaughtering center, and when so shipped the said sheep shall not be diverted en route and shall be slaughtered within two weeks after arrival at destination. If the diseased sheep are to be shipped for stocking or feeding purposes they shall be dipped twice, as above indicated, ten days apart, and shall be submitted to inspection before shipment.

Sheep that are not diseased with scabies, but which have been exposed to the contagion of the disease, may be moved for feeding or stocking purposes after one dipping, or they may be shipped by rail or boat to a recognized slaughtering center, for immediate slaughter without dipping.

Regulation 32. When diseased sheep have been dipped once and are shipped for slaughter in accordance with regulation 31, the officers of the transportation company shall affix to both sides of each car a durable, conspicuous, printed placard not less than 5½ by 8 inches in size, the letters of which shall be boldface, and not less than 1 1/4 inches in height. These placards shall bear the words, "dipped and scabby sheep," and shall not be removed until the sheep have arrived at destination, have been unloaded, and the cars disinfect.

When exposed sheep are shipped without dipping for immediate slaughter, in accordance with regulation 31, the officers of the transportation company shall affix to both sides of each car a durable, conspicuous, printed placard not less than 5 1/2 by 8 inches in size the letters of which shall be boldface and not less than 1 1/2 inches in height, bearing the words “exposed sheep for slaughter.”

Regulation 33. The dips now approved are:
(a) The tobacco-and-sulphur dip, made with sufficient extract of tobacco or nicotine solution to give a mixture containing not less than five one-hundredths of one per cent. of nicotine and two per cent. flowers of sulphur.
(b) The lime-and-sulphur dip, made with eight pounds of unslaked lime and twenty-four pounds of flowers of sulphur to 100 gallons of water. The lime and sulphur should be boiled together for not less than two hours, and all sediment allowed to subside before the liquid is placed in the dipping vat.
Either one of these dips may be used.

Regulation 34. The dipping shall be done carefully and the sheep handled as humanely as possible. The department, however, assumes no responsibility for loss or damage resulting from the dipping, and those who wish to avoid any risks that may be incident to dipping at the stock yards as well as to avoid liability to prosecution should see that their sheep are free from disease before shipping them to market.

Regulation 35. The sheep shall be kept in the dip between two and three minutes and their heads be submerged at least once, though but for an instant at a time, and assistance should be rendered immediately if the sheep appear to be strangling. The dip shall be maintained at a temperature of between 100 deg. and 105 deg. F. while the sheep are in it. It shall be renewed as soon as it becomes filthy, regardless of the number of sheep dipped and in no case shall the dip be used when more than one week old. In emptying the dipping vat the entire contents shall be removed, including all sediment and droppings, or other foreign matter. Suitable dripping platforms and drying pens shall be provided. Sheep shall not be loaded until they have become dry.

Regulation 36. Sheep shipped under a certificate are not guaranteed uninterrupted transit; for in the event of the development of scabies or exposure thereto en route they shall be dipped before proceeding to their destination, and the cars or other vehicles and the chutes, alleys and pens that may have been occupied shall be cleaned and disinfected as hereinafter provided.

Regulation 37. Public stock yards shall be considered infected and the sheep yarded therein as having been exposed to the disease, and no sheep may be shipped from said yards except for immediate slaughter, without dipping. Where, however, a part or all of the stock yards is reserved and set apart for the reception of uninfected shipments of sheep and is kept free of disease sheep may be shipped from the reserved yards or portions thereof without dipping. If diseased sheep are introduced into said uninfected yards or portions thereof they shall be immediately removed therefrom and the chutes, alleys and pens occupied by the said sheep shall be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. No sheep shall be shipped for feeding or stocking purposes from any stock yards where an inspector of the bureau of animal industry is stationed without a certificate of inspection or of dipping issued by the said inspector.

Regulation 38. Cars and other vehicles, yards, pens, sheds, chutes, etc., that have contained diseased or exposed sheep shall be cleaned and disinfected in the following manner: Remove all litter and manure, and then saturate the interior surfaces of the cars and the woodwork, flooring, and ground of the chutes, alleys, and pens with a 5 per cent, solution of 100 per cent, carbolic acid in water, with sufficient time to show where it has been applied.

REGULATIONS TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF MALADIE DU COIT.

Regulation 39. No horses, or asses shall be offered for shipment shipped, transported, driven or trailed, or otherwise removed or allowed to drift from an area quarantined by the secretary of agriculture for maladie du coit without inspection and certification of freedom from the disease for the purpose of the particular movement by an inspector of the bureau of animal industry. Owners and custodians of horses or asses for whom inspection is made, shall provide such reasonable facilities and render such assistance as may be required by the inspector.

Regulation 40. Any animal or animals showing symptoms of the disease or known to have been exposed thereto shall, in the discretion of the inspector or employee of the bureau of animal industry, either be immediately quarantined and maintained in quarantine at the expense of the owner or owners until released by the said inspector or employee, or shall be condemned and killed as hereinafter provided.

Regulation 41. No stallion or jack shall be allowed to run at large on the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian reservations in the state of South Dakota, and all the stallions and jacks thereon shall be tagged as hereinafter provided.

Regulation 42. There shall be no breeding of animals on the said reservations in a herd in which there is an animal which has been exposed to the infection of maladie du coit within eighteen months after the said exposure.

Regulation 43. When it is necessary, in order to prevent the spread of the disease and to all in its extermination the Department of Agriculture will purchase a diseased or exposed animal at a price based upon its actual value for work purposes at the time of purchase. When, however, the owner or owners will not accept the indemnity price offered by the department, the inspector shall arrange for a board of three appraisers, who shall determine the price to be paid for the condemned animal. This board shall be constituted as follows: An inspector or other employee of the bureau of animal industry, one person chosen by the owner of the animal or animals to be appraised, and the third member to be chosen by the two herein provided for. The animal or animals under condemnation shall be maintained in quarantine at the expense of the owner or owners until disposed of.

Regulation 44. Any stallions or jacks found running at large on the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian reservations on and after the date of this order may be castrated by an inspector or other employee of the bureau of animal industry of this department or by such other person as may be duly authorized by the inspector in charge of the district named, and no indemnity shall be allowed the owner in case of damage resulting from such castration. The terms “stallion” and “jack” shall be understood to apply to any uncastrated male horse or ass one year of age or over.

Regulation 45. Each stallion or jack on the above named reservations shall bear a numbered tag and shall be kept under such restrictions as the inspector in charge shall prescribe, and shall be subjected to examination at such times and as frequently as may be thought necessary by the inspector, for the purpose of ascertaining whether symptoms of the disease have developed.
Regulation 46. The department will pay a sum of $50 for authentic information leading to the discovery of the ownership and location of a stallion or a jack affected with the contagious venereal disease known as maladie du coit, and the sum of $25 for authentic information leading to the discovery of the ownership and location of a female animal affected with the disease: Provided, That when such information is received from more than one person as to the location of the same animal and owner, the sum above named shall be paid to the first informant, and when doubt exists or a dispute arises as to who was the first informant no reward shall be paid. When more than one diseased animal is found belonging to the same owner or on the same premises, only one reward shall be paid.

REGULATION TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF HOG CHOLERA AND SWINE PLAGUE.

Regulation 47. All persons intending to ship swine shall ascertain before offering them for shipment that the animals are not diseased and have not been exposed to the contagion of either disease.

Regulation 48. Swine which are not diseased with hog cholera or swine plague and which have not been exposed to the infection thereof may be shipped from one state or territory or the District of Columbia, into another state or territory or the District of Columbia without restriction by the regulations of the secretary of agriculture, and subject only to such restrictions as may be imposed on the shipment by state or territorial or District of Columbia officers at destination.

No diseased swine shall be shipped from the stock yards, but shall be slaughtered, subject to condemnation on postmortem inspection; and all swine in a certain lot or shipment shall be considered diseased when one or more of them show evidence of the disease. Swine that are not diseased and have been merely exposed by being in the yards may be shipped to a recognized slaughtering center for immediate slaughter. Where, however, a part of the yard is set apart for the reception of uninfected shipments of swine and is kept free of infection, swine may be shipped from such part without restriction. Should such part be contaminated by the introduction of diseased swine, said animals shall be immediately removed therefrom, and the chutes, alleys and pens occupied by them thoroughly cleaned and disinfected as hereinafter provided.

Regulation 50. Cars and other vehicles and pens or yards which have contained diseased or exposed swine shall be cleaned and disinfected as soon as possible after unloading. Cars shall not be removed before the inspector has had time to ascertain the condition of the animals and to give notice that the cars must be cleaned and disinfected. Cleaning and disinfection shall be done by first removing all litter and manure and then saturating the interior surfaces of the cars and the woodwork, flooring and ground of the chutes, alleys and pens with a five per cent. solution of 100 per cent. carbolic acid in water, with sufficient lime to show where it has been applied.

ing the same in a humane manner, into properly equipped pens for rest, water, and feeding, for a period of at least five consecutive hours, unless prevented by storm or by other accidental or unavoidable causes which cannot be anticipated or avoided by the exercise of due diligence and foresight: PROVIDED. That upon the written request of the owner or person in custody of that particular shipment, which written request shall be separate and apart from any printed bill of lading, or other railroad form, the time of confinement may be extended to thirty-six hours. In estimating such confinement, the time consumed in loading and unloading shall not be considered, but the time during which the animals have been confined without such rest or food or water on connecting roads shall be included, it being the intent of this act to prohibit contingencies hereinbefore stated: PROVIDED, That it shall not be required that sheep be unloaded in the night time, but where the time expires in the night time in case of sheep the same may continue in transit to a suitable place for unloading, subject to the aforesaid limitation of thirty-six hours.

That animals so unloaded shall be properly fed and watered during such rest either by the owner or persons having the custody thereof, or in case of his default in so doing, then by the railroad, express company, car company, common carrier other than by water, or the receiver, trustee, or lessee of any of them, or by the owner or masters of boats or vessels transporting the same, at the reasonable expense of the owner or person in custody thereof, and such railroad, express company, common carrier other than water, receiver, trustee, or lessee of any of them, owners or masters, shall in such case have a lien upon such animals for food, care, and custody furnished, collectible at their destination in the same manner as the transportation charges are collected, and shall not be liable for any detention of such animals, when such detention is of reasonable duration, to enable compliance with Section one (first paragraph hereof) of this act; but nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the owner or shipper of animals from furnishing food therefor, if he so desires.

That any railroad, express company, common carrier other than by water, or the receivers, trustee, or lessee or any of them, or the master or owner of any steam, sailing, or other vessel who knowingly and wilfully fails to comply with the provisions of the two preceding sections (paragraphs) shall for every such failure be liable for a forfeiture and pay a penalty of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars: PROVIDED, That when animals are carried in cars, boats, or other vessels in which they can and do have proper food, water, space, and opportunity to rest the provisions in regard to their being unloaded shall not apply.

That the penalty created by the preceding section (paragraph) shall be recovered by civil action in the name of the United States in the Circuit or District Court holden within the district where the violation may have been committed or the persons or corporation resides or carries on business; and it shall be the duty of United States Attorneys to prosecute all violations of this Act reported by the Secretary of Agriculture, or which may come of their knowledge by other means.

The rules and regulations of the various railroads are for all practical purposes the same—this being obvious when attention is called to the fact that all the participating carriers of any given road are bound by the rules and regulations of the originating carrier. Hence, it is deemed inadvisable to give verbatim the rules and regulations of each individual road, as to do so would only be a repetition and would tend to confuse and work no practical end.

A familiarity with the following rules and regulations will place the shipper in a familiar status with the rules and regulations of all the railroads.

weights on all Live Stock consigned to that market, making it necessary to track scale cars loaded and light, it is understood, when requests are made to set aside such track scale weight in favor of hoof selling weights, that such hoof weights less usual fill allowances may be protected when same are greater or less than the net track scale weight by more than 1,000 pounds, subject to established minimum weights. When such hoof selling weights, less the usual fill allowance, do not vary more than 1,000 pounds from the track scale weights, no correction will be made and track scale weights, subject to established minimum weight will be the basis for freight charges.

When cars are not track scaled the hoof selling weight less the usual allowances for fill will be the basis for freight charges subject to the established minimum weights.

On shipments of Live Stock rated in dollars per car, when loaded in Palace cars, having permanent stalls, the rate on highest class will govern.

Lands and Investments
EVERYBODY WANTS TO BE RICH
To get Rich is to be Influential
To Get Rich You Must Save and Invest

One good investment is often worth a lifetime's labor. I make a specialty of selling and exchanging lands and ranches. I have one investment whereby I guarantee 25% income each year, and do not ask for one cent until you have investigated, and satisfied it is as represented. I have a large list of improved farms and ranches to select from. Some ranches with a nice bunch of cattle, have two ranches with 500 acres of alfalfa on each one, that are bargains. Write

Don’t Get Discouraged

When your young Pigs begin to show signs of loss of appetite and their ears droop and tail hangs straight down, that’s their way of “WARNING” you that something is wrong and needs help.

OUR CRE-O-LONE HOG CHOLERA PREVENTIVE, will give the required aid. Tones the entire system. The Liver vibrates with new life. The Blood is cleansed of all impurities and carries renewed health to every vein and nerve and muscle and removes the constipation, then their trouble is gone. No more attacks until Improper feeding brings it on again. The discouraging features are gone and it seems worth while.

“DON’T FORGET” that it is “CRE-O-LONE” that you want.

Mr. Stockman

In putting out this edition of the "Stockmen's Legal Guide" we were prompted by a two-fold purpose. One was that we felt that it would be a most welcomed addition to your library, placing, as it does, the stock laws in force in your state, at your finger tips. The other was, that we wanted your business.

When you buy, feed and sell on a close margin it is absolutely essential that you be protected for the careless handling in shipment—for by one negligent act on the part of a railroad your profits for an entire year may be sent glimmering.

We are fully prepared and qualified to recover these losses for you—giving them the careful and prompt attention to which they are entitled.

We respectfully solicit your business.

Very truly yours,
